Today's line up: women's final and bronze medal match

Bronze Medal Match

Date	Match	Referee	City (Country)	Match No	Time
09.08.2012	Canada - France	Jenny PALMQVIST (SWE)	COVENTRY (GBR)	25	13:00

Canada and France have the same level of performance in previous head-to-heads with exactly the same number of matches won, drawn and lost out of eight matches. France, however, have won last the two meetings which includes the 4-0 victory in the FIFA Women's World Cup 2011 group stage match where Thiney (two goals), Abily and Thomis all featured on the scoreboard.

For both teams this will be their best Women's Olympic ranking. France are newcomers in this edition whilst Canada's best previous achievement was in 2008 when they were eliminated in the quarter-finals.

All previous Women's Olympic bronze medal matches have been won by a European team: Norway in 1996 and Germany three times in a row from 2000 to 2008.

2-0 is the most frequent result for a bronze medal match happening in 1996, 2000 and 2008.

Gold Medal Match

Date	Match	Referee	City (Country)	Match No	Time
09.08.2012	USA - Japan	Bibiana STEINHAUS (GER)	LONDON (GBR)	26	19:45

Out of the two teams previous 29 head-to-heads Japan has won only one of these matches when they beat the USA 1-0 in a friendly played last March. Nevertheless the Asians also ultimately overcame the Stars and Stripes in penalty shoot-outs at the FIFA Women's World Cup final 2011™.

The last three gold medal matches have always been won in extra time: in 2000 Norway beat the USA 3-2 thanks to Mellgren's goal in the 102 minute; in 2004 the USA beat Brazil 2-1 with a late goal by Wambach in the 112 minute; in 2008 the USA beat Brazil again, this time 1-0 with a goal by Lloyd in minute 96.

Pia Sundhage and Norio Sasaki are set to become Women's Olympic coaches with the most matches, the gold medal match in London will be their twelfth overall, one more than the previous record holder USA's April Heinrich.

If Christie Rampone plays in this match she will become the first player to be present in four different gold medal matches, she is certainly set to be the only player to win four Women's Olympic medals having already won two gold and one silver.

No reigning world champion team has gone on to secure Gold medal victory at the following Women's Olympic Football Tournament.

Facts and figures

This is the 13th bronze medal match between two teams from the same confederation. All of the twelve previous match fixtures involved two European teams, the last one being in 1988 when Germany FR beat Italy 3-0.

Japan is the only Asian team to have previously won an Olympic football medal when they were awarded bronze in 1968. India was the first Asian zone representative to play in the bronze medal match in 1956 and Iraq was the last in 2004.

Korea Republic will play the bronze medal match after winning only one match during the London 2012 tournament when they beat Switzerland 2-1 in the group stage. In their remaining matches they tied three (including the win by penalties over Great Britain) and lost once.
